Subject: Media request - Live Science - Treatment of Gold King Mine Spill

Hi Richard,

I am a freelance writer based here in Denver, and I am working on an article for the science news website Live Science about the cleanup/decontamination efforts around the Gold King Mine spill. We're interested in covering the technical details of the clean-up and how the settlement ponds and treatments work.

Is there anyone available at the EPA to give an overview today? Just let me know a good contact and number, or feel free to call me at (720) 4695-880.

Best,
Stephanie
